

ENGINEERS BETTER PAID THAN SOME GOVERNORS

James M. Sheehan, Attorney for Western Railroads, Outlines Case Before Board of Arbitration.

EVIDENCE FOR MEN COMPLETED

Increases Asked For Amount to $400,000,000 a Year—Compensation Already Higher Than in Eastern and Southern Territories.

CHICAGO, January 18.—Governors of seven States could make more money in a locomotive cab on some Western railroads than they now receive as chief executives, according to the statement of James M. Sheehan, attorney for Western railroads, whose engineers, firemen and hostlers are demanding higher wages and better hours, in outlining the rail side of the case before the board of arbitration, presentation of evidence for the men was begun November 30 and completed today.

Sheehan declared the annual salaries of the Governors were smaller than wages received by some of the locomotive engineers of Western railroads, who ask increases which, he said, would amount to $100,000,000 a year.

"Of the 5,000 men whose wages for the entire year to June 30, 1913, will be shown," Sheehan continued, "there is a maximum of $3,725.20 for passenger engineers, $3,342.30 for freight engineers, $2,220 for passenger firemen, and $1,890.32 for freight firemen. Against these maxima the Governors of seven States receive $3,000 a year less, while those of seven other States receive $1,000 more, slightly above the engineers' maximum earnings."

EARNINGS STATEMENTS

WHEN DEMANDS ARE MADE

"Actual earnings statements for all engineers and firemen for the month in which these demands were presented, show that engineers in passenger service earned actually an average of $155 for the month, with maximum actual earnings of $311; in freight service the average was $170, with an actual maximum of $357; the firemen in passenger service that month earned an average of $115, with a maximum of $210, while in freight service their earnings for the month were an average of $110, with a maximum of $221. Other firemen in combination freight and passenger service earned even higher wages."

A careful investigation of the increased cost of living in the West shows that prices have not advanced so fast as have the wages of engineers

IN MEMORIAM

RYAN.—In memory of CHARLES J. RYAN, who died on January 19, 1914, in the thirty-eighth year of his age, and who was buried at the home of his wife, Mrs. Bette A. Duke, in Hanover County, Va. This is the old family homestead, "Mt. Ida," where his boyhood days were spent, and where, by his own request, he was laid to rest.

The old home trees his boyhood knew. Now guard him where he sleeps. The old oak which his ten eyes stood. A silent vigil keep.

The summer leaves and winter snows. The winds and rains and cold streams. That were his friends in other days. Will not disturb his dreams.

In mind and fortune gifted, still In sadness we must own That fate had left him in the world Very much alone.

Among the kindred and the friends There was no father's pride bowed down. No mother's heart to break.

And those who love him deeply feel How vainly fortune tried To compensate to that young life For all that fate denied.

But now life's fiftieth dream is past. In this at least he's blest. That he can lay him down at last Beneath the trees to rest. C. E. J.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

WINN.—The Academy of Medicine and Surgery has met upon the occasion of the death of one of its honored members, DR. JOHN F. WINN. As a practitioner, journalist and teacher he had made an enviable reputation in his profession; and as a specialist in his chosen line he had taken the foremost rank. His work he did not spare himself, and was conscientious almost to a fault in the discharge of his various duties. He was not only a pillar of support to the medical profession, but a witness to all that his life and example have meant for us, he resolved: That the hand of an all-wise Providence we desire to express a sense of our loss, and to extend to his family our sympathy in their bereavement.

That copies of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and sent to the family. Sent-Monthly, and to the daily papers. (Signed) WM. S. GORDON, Chairman.

J. N. Upshur, JNO. DUNN, Secretary.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY.

A stated communication of the Richmond Randolph Lodge, No. 19, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons will be held THIS (Tuesday) EVENING, January 19, 1915, at 7:30 o'clock in the Mason's Hall, Franklin, near Eighteenth Street. All Master Masons in good standing are cordially invited to attend.

My order of the master, W. A. CLARKE, JR., Secretary.

and firemen under the schedules awarded in 1910.

"Comparison of their wages with those of any other craft, or of any other railway employees, or of engineers and firemen in other parts of the country, show that they are already receiving a higher compensation in both rates of pay and rules."

On the question of the roads' inability to meet the added cost in the last demands of the men, Sheehan pointed out that the Western road in recent years had experienced immense losses in net revenues, income, dividends and surplus, in which situation they were now facing by demands of engineers and firemen which, he said, would add $10,000,000 to expenses.

OBITUARY

William M. Harris.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] FREDERICKSBURG, VA., January 18.—William M. Harris, a well-known citizen and lumber dealer, who came here from Westmoreland County six years ago, died last evening at his home, aged sixty-eight years. Mr. Harris was a Confederate soldier, having served through the Civil War. He is survived by his wife and five children. His body was taken to his son's home at Montross, Westmoreland County, where interment will be made in the burying ground of the Methodist Church.

Arminio Tony Talamini.

LYNCHBURG, VA., January 18.—Arminio Tony Talamini, aged twelve years, son of Mrs. J. M. Talamini, died last night at the father's home here after an illness of a few days. The child is survived by his mother, a brother, J. M. Talamini, of San Francisco, and a sister Mrs. George Seavers, of this city.

RECORD RAINFALL WITH NORTHEAST STORM

Four inches at Wilmington Brings High Water, Which Interferes With Train Service.

WILMINGTON, N. C., January 18.—In the wake of the northeast storm which prevailed generally along the coast to-day came a total of approximately four inches of rainfall up to the clearing of the storm at 10 o'clock to-night. The record being the highest for a single day since 1874. All trains on the division of the Atlantic Coast Line between Wilmington and Newbern, N. C., had to be annulled on account of the high water. From Southport come no reports of distress to shipping, but a dense fog is reported off the coast, and its clearing is being watched with expected developments by mariners.

RELATIVES LOCATED

Wilbur R. Brown, the young man who died in Battle Creek, Mich., without informing persons there as to his relatives, but who was known to have received the Times-Dispatch each day, has been identified as the son of Jeff Brown, who lives near Bon Air, Va. Brown also has a brother named Louis. It is probable that the body will be shipped back to his family for burial.

Mrs. Mary J. Simmons, 84 West Jackson Street, Battle Creek, was the person in whose home Brown boarded. She did not know the names of any of the man's relatives, but did know that he received the Times-Dispatch and had gone to Battle Creek from Richmond. She requested this paper to locate his relatives. Brown had been living in Battle Creek for several months. He was taken sick and died in a short time, according to Mrs. Simmons.

RELATIVES LOCATED

Dr. Dabney Minor Trice.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., January 18.—Dr. Dabney Minor Trice, aged fifty-four years, a prominent specialist and superintendent of the Moore's Brook Sanitarium, an institution for the treatment of nervous diseases, located near "Monticello," died last night after a two days' illness of pneumonia, contracted during a drive to Fluvanna County to attend the bedside of his wife's uncle, Dr. Dudley R. Boston. The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning from his home, the "Red Hills," Fluvanna County, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. Trice was a son of the late Colonel Robert Nelson Trice, of Urbana, Middlesex County, Va., and of Lucy J. Minor, of Albemarle County, Va., and was born September 27, 1860, in Charlottesville. He spent his early life at "Mauchunk," near Koswick, this county, and was educated at Major Horace Jones's school, this city, and at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va. His medical training was received at the University of Virginia and in Kentucky. After practicing his profession for a while in Middleboro, Ky., Dr. Trice spent some time in a New York hospital, and later went to Wisconsin, where he located. In 1903 he returned to his native State and established the Moore's Brook Sanitarium, an enterprise which succeeded from the start.

Dr. Trice was twice married. His second wife, who was a sister of the first, was Miss A. W. Cooke, of Fluvanna County. There are no children.

Migraine or Sick Headache

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear curable. Sufferers from this affliction are condemned to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two Anti-kamnia Tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one Anti-kamnia Tablet every two hours during the attack. Anti-kamnia Tablets may be obtained at drug stores. Take for K Tablets. They quickly relieve all Pain.

REVENUE CUTTER SERVICE AGAIN PROVES ITS WORK

During Year Saved 470 Lives and Annihilated 210 Vessels, Valued, With Cargo, at $20,000,000.

WASHINGTON, January 13.—American revenue cutter saved 176 lives and gave assistance to 210 vessels valued, with their cargoes, at more than $9,000,000 during the last fiscal year, Commandant E. P. Berthoff reported today. For every dollar expended, the service added in saving property worth $3.72.

Commandant Berthoff renewed his recommendation for the consolidation of the revenue cutter service and the life-saving service into an organization to be known as the coast guard.

"There is a consensus of opinion," he says, "among all parties interested that this will add greatly to the efficiency of these humanitarian branches of the government."

The report states that although there were no serious floods in the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys during the year, the recommendation for three light-draft cutters for use there in flooded times should not be overlooked by Congress.

Lee patrol work of the Senae and Miami in North Atlantic steamship lanes was reviewed. The report contains a letter from J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador, to Secretary Bryan, praising the vessels' work. The ambassador quotes Commander Poncelet, of the French navy, as saying "the presence of those vessels is a blessing to navigation of all countries."

The report shows that during the year 28,757 vessels were boarded, 958 were seized, or reported for law violations and fines and penalties of $204,310 were incurred by those so reported.

INQUIRY INTO NATION'S GREAT FOUNDATIONS

Begun by Federal Industrial Relations Commission in New York.

SAMUEL UNTERMYER WITNESS

Thinks Philanthropic Organizations Are Able Managed, but Contends Laws Governing Them Need Revision—Hanson Also Testifies.

NEW YORK, January 18.—Samuel Untermyer, of New York, who was counsel to the Pujo committee, which investigated the so-called "money trust," and Roger W. Hanson, of Westchester Hills, Mass., testified today at the opening session of the Federal Industrial Relations Commission's investigation into the country's great philanthropic organizations, namely, the Rockefeller, Carnegie, Sage, Cleveland (Ohio) and Baron de Hirsch Foundations.

Mr. Untermyer contended that, while the foundations were able managed, laws governing them should be revised. He advocated Federal charters, limitation as to size of representation by Federal trustees when the present trustees begin to retire, and a prohibition against the accumulation of income.

Both witnesses assailed "the absentee control" exercised over many of the country's leading industries, as not only unfair to the workers, but usually contrary to good business practice.

Mr. Untermyer asserted that, in his opinion, the "ill-kept gathering of money" in certain quarters had been the direct cause of much poverty, and that nearly all railroads and other great corporations were completely controlled by banking interests, which had reorganized them after they had become insolvent. In railroad matters, he asserted, all questions regarding labor conditions could be decided in one office. The concentration of power and capital was grossly unfair to labor, he said.

Deputy Francesco Clearone, in a conversation with the correspondent today, said:

"Many of the good farmhouses that collapsed in the Abruzzi country were built and owned by Italians who made their money in the United States or in England, Australia and Argentina. A majority of them, however, belonged to men who had been in the United States."

"The Americans," as they are called throughout this part of Italy, usually spent fifteen or twenty years in the United States and returned home to buy a farm or to build a good house on a bit of land they already owned."

Avezano was important as a manufacturing and trade center. The sugar works cost $1,250,000. Some of the machinery may still be of value. Other mills, less important, represented a property value of some $3,000,000.

KING OF ITALY THANKS WILSON FOR SYMPATHY

WASHINGTON, January 18.—President Wilson received a cablegram today from King Victor Emmanuel of Italy thanking him for sympathy expressed after the recent earthquake. The message follows:

"I am sensible very much of the expression of sympathy you have been so kind as to send me on this dolorous occasion. Please accept with my sincerest thanks the heartfelt gratitude of the Italian people."

Word from Italy as to whether it would accept aid from the United States for the earthquake sufferers still was awaited to-day by the Red Cross.

A dispatch from Ambassador Page said the Italian government estimated the number of killed and wounded at approximately 25,000. The message added that, owing to the international situation, Italy was not accepting foreign aid.

THOUSANDS OF INJURED ARRIVE IN ROME

ROME, January 18.—No fewer than 3,000 injured persons from the earthquake zone already have arrived in Rome, and many more are expected. Among the residents of the capital who tend the wounded as they are brought from the trains is the wife of Ricciotti Garibaldi. Deaths on these incoming trains are of frequent occurrence.

Others of the wounded are being taken to Naples.

GOES AFTER THAW THIS WEEK

Jerome Will Make Move To-Day to Get Prisoner to New York.

NEW YORK, January 18.—The first move to bring Harry K. Thaw back to New York from New Hampshire on extradition papers, as directed by the United States Supreme Court, will be taken to-morrow, when William Travers Jerome will apply to the court for a certified copy of its decision. Immediately after receiving the order, according to an announcement to-day, Mr. Jerome and Sheriff Hornbeck, of Dutchess County, will go to Manchester to take Thaw into custody.

The time limit of thirty days allowed by the Supreme Court for executing its order for the return of Thaw to his native State expires to-morrow, and unless legal obstacles are placed in their way by Thaw's attorneys, it is expected that Mr. Jerome and Sheriff Hornbeck will bring Thaw back some time this week.

Most Old People Are Constipated

The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels. With advancing age people are disposed to restricted activity and exercise, which is responsible for the constipated condition of most old folks. The digestive organs are more sensitive to the demands made upon them and rebel more quickly.

A mild, effective remedy for constipation, and one that is especially suited to the needs of elderly people, women and children, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.
